DISCUSSION BEGINS

Chiropractic and Osteopathic Measures Are Presented

Quite a company of women attended the forum at the Masonic Temple Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Legislative section of the Tuesday Afternoon club of which Mrs. B. M. Holbrook is curator. A discussion of measures upon the ballot to be voted next week, constituted the program of the afternoon. All urged voters to carefully read and study the measures before voting and to pass on the benefits of the discussion to their neighbors, saying that of the three disseminating agencies—the telegraph, the telephone and the tell a woman, the last was the most effective, the back fence being the best known broadcasting station.

No. 16, the Chiropractic bill, was the theme of the opening debate. Dr. Hoffman presented the affirmative arguments and the reasons why-chiropractics desire a special board of examiners. H. J. Castellaw, a Los Angeles attorney, de-fended the present board of state medical examiners including the eight "old school" members who had been charged with exercising the powers given them by the law to rule against schools of which they disapprove and insisted they had not been discriminatory. Judge John A. Burgan of Los Angeles defended No. 19, the Water and Power act, declaring it granted no more power than is at present granted to municipal and private corporations, that the board of five to be appointed by the gov ernor would have no handling of the funds and would merely investigate and make recommendations on projects which might apply for funds; that the matter would pass responsible for some of the rob- from that board to a finance board beries that have taken place in composed of the governor, comp-Glendale during the past few troller and state treasurer and nights, engaged in a merry chase two others, all subject to recall, whose interest it would be to hon- state available for enforcement. estly administer their trust. ## IDAHO ALFALFA SEED EXCEEDS RECORD

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 1.—The crop of alfalfa seed in Idaho this year exceeded all previous crops by 15 percent, according to reports by the Idaho crop reporting service. The crop amounted to 56,925 bushels. The yield per acre was 4.5 bushels. The total acreage in the state was 12,650, while the acreage last year was about 11,000. The crop is extremely valuable, Land must be free of weeds. For Dawe. Parker, Holt and Moore and this reason many fertile tracts of sagebrush land are immediately put into alfalfa as soon as water is available. Weeds do not grow on soil that is covered with sage. Once weeds take root, the land is valueless for raising alfalfa seed.

The heaviest bean crop ever harvested in the state was reported this year. In the Twin Falls dis-trict alone the crop was more than double that of last year. There was more acreage in beans, and the yield was much greater.

MISS-LINKOGEL GIVES PARTY FOR JUNIORS

The Hallowe'en party given by Miss Hazel Linkogel for members of the Junior Music club at her home on East Chestnut street Monday night, was a hilarious affair, immensely enjoyed by the guests numbering 125 or more. They came masked and in costume and were not permitted to enter by the front door. They were compelled to climb a ladder and were admitted through a window. The house was beautifully decorated with festoons and streamers in yellow and black and the re-freshments were doughnuts and cider. Following a short musical program there were games and dancing, guests unmasking when the grand march was called.

The musical program included vocal solos by Claude Whitfield, plano solos by Lois Olmstead, and numbers by the Boys' Glee club.

Wanamaker, associate justice of the supreme court of Ohio. He utters more of adverse criticism for his own profession than any outsider could be expected to do, for he writes out of the intimate knowledge that an outsider would not be likely to possess. There is about his averments an air of authority. He expresses himself as one desirous of seeing a high calling kept to the ethical standard set for it. He scores the tendency to delay, the weight given to technicality, the protection of accused persons known to be guilty, the granting of frivolous appeals. He does this with dignity and sincerity. There perhaps could be no better way of showing his position than by quoting from his recent paper in the Saturday Evening Post. The bilerty of doing so somewhat freely will

TROUBLE IN ITALY

Matters do not move smoothly in Italy. The truth has to be confessed that the world outside has difficulty in grasping the exact reasons for the trouble. It appears that an organization known as Fasciti is showing an inclination to assume authority. The exact nature of this band is dimly understood at a distance. In the first place it began to function as a protest against the weakness of the government in dealing with certain other organizations noted for the criminal tendency of their activities. Having taken power from the hands of these enemies that had proved too potent for the government to control, it seems to have adopted the plan of running the government. Apparently it is quite willing to relieve the king, and the regularly appointed instruments of authority, of all their responsibilities, and itself run the ship of state. The Fasciti may be accepted as a party of ardent reformers, swollen by initial success.

outlaw. Superiority, for which we all strive, isolates. Any man with more genius, more talent, more money, higher social position, or greater physical or mental strength than his fellows finds himself, to a degree, cut off from their sympathy. This is one reason why we love the sinners and slumpers. At least they are not above us. Melville Davisson Post has entitled "The Mountain School Teacher." It illustrates the point just made above. It tells of a young man who comes into a country district in the "Continuances after continuances are granted for both and, among a population that is ignorant, be assisted for prejudiced, and narrow, is himself wise, tolerant, and

Most people are doing one or the other. Few if any are standing still. For it is pretty well said there must be progress or retrogression. Life has in it nothing of immobility.

Achieving or failing? Striving or hesitating and halting? Courageous or despairing and fearful? Thrifty or spendthrift? All pertinent questions. Having to do with the human being.

Good to ask ourselves once in a while just where we stand.

What we are aiming at. Whether we are making any hits. Or just resting with the bow string loose. Drudging along and gazing into vacancy.

Songs of the Poets

The Great Voices-By Charles Timothy Brooks (1813-1883)

A voice from the sea to the mountains, From the mountains again to the sea; A call to the deep from the fountains:
O spirit! be glad and be free!

A cry from the floods to the fountains, And the torrents repeat the glad song As they leap from the breast of the mountains: O spirit! be free and be strong!

The pine forests thrill with emotion Of praise as the spirit sweeps by; With a voice like the murmur of ocean To the soul of the listener they cry.

Oh sing, human heart, like the fountains. With joy reverential and free; Contented and calm as the mountains, And deep as the woods and the sea.

LOOK OUT FOR ALPHA CENTAURI

By Dr. Edwin E. Slossor

As if we did not have enough to worry about, what with winter coming on and coal so short and clothing so high, here comes along Prof. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale with a book on "Climate which warns us that. Changes" the stars in their courses may fight against us. He has a theory that the glacial epochs and the lesser disturbances of the earth's climate are largely due to prior disturbances in the sun's certain stars. All the stars, including our sun, are in radio communication with one another, and when one flares up over something it arouses responsive excitement in all the others within range. Then, too, the stars are not "fixed," as we used to think, but are wandering about in various directions, and when two stars come close enough together they become mutually inflamed proximity and may become permanently attached.

Now the nearest star to us is the brightest one in the Centaur constellation, there-fore named Alpha Centauri. It is only about 25 trillion miles away and its light takes four and a third years to reach us. Alpha Centauri is not only big and bright and relatively near, but it is triple and variable. Its two main components are like two suns the size of ours, revolving around one another are closest they are 1,100,-000,000 miles apart and when their orbits separate most

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

SEEKING THE CAUSE OF THE WAR

[St. Paul Pioneer Press] The neutral commission of inquiry into the causes of the war, which has now begun its work, can be expected to gather a mass of information, documents and conclusions on the subject which will be of infinite historical value in the future. Although the funds for this work have been provided by certain American organizations, the independence and personnel of the commission leaves no doubt that its work will be as unbiased and fair as these investigations ever can be. Only Holland, Switzerland, Norway and Sweden are represented on it, and the results of the investigation will be received everywhere as weighty, if not conclusive. For this reason, it is certainly to be hoped that widely they are three times as far as that from each other. It is when the twin stars are nearest that we should expec them to be most active in sending out light waves and electrons. These reaching the sun might set up wild whirlings in the solar atmosphere, which would appear to us as an unusual abundance of sunspots, and would affect the weather on the earth. The dates when the two bright spheres of Alpha Centauri were nearest together and most radiant are 81.2 years apart and these fall on the years 1388, 1469, 1550, 1631, 1713, 1794, 1875 and 1956. Comparing these with the records of sunspots, which have been kept only for the last century and a half, we see that such evidences of solar disturbances were most evident in periods ending in 1794 and 1875, and that another period of high solar activity started in 1914 and may be expected to end about

If this theory of stellar influence is true we may expect something to happen somewhere between 1950 and 1956. What it will be Prof. Huntington does not venture to surmise, but he reminds us that in the years preceding 1388, when Alpha Centauri was active, Europe was a very uncomfortable place to live in. There were droughts and The Baltic was frozen so that horse sleighs could cross from Germany to Sweden, and the

Danube and the Rhine sometimes inundated the cities on their banks and sometimes nearly dried un

There are more serious grounds for suspecting Alpha Centauri of a malign influence on the earth for that star was nearest to the earth 28,000 years ago, being then only 3.2 light-years away. Now this is the date that geol ogists have set for the end of the last Great Ice Age so the approach and proximity of Alpha Centauri may have had something to do with that spell of cold weather which came near freezing out the human race. The world is the chills of the Glacial epoch. Greenland, which once was really green with ferns and figs, is still covered by an ice we need not fear another glacial age from the same cause for Alpha Centauri is now 4.3 light years away and teen miles a second. But Sirius is due in this vicinity in 65,000 years and that would be quite as—I should say, might be equally bad for us. But Prof. Huntington endeavors to console us by reminding us that the human race not only survived several but has come out of them in each case stronger and better for the struggle for existence. He is a firm believer in the value of stormy weather. He is a New Englander.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It seems singular that a great city such as Los Angeles should have difficulty in procuring enough policemen. A substantial addition to the force there was authorized recently. From the first there has been evidence of a lack of suitable material. Of the applicants taken on probation, only 65 per cent, it is said, come up to mental and physical requirements. Adverting tisements for more men do not seem to be inciting them to appear.

"The policeman's lot is not a happy one," it has been admitted. This statement was coined more for the purpose of turning a phrase, than for telling the truth. He has his hardships, does the copper, but there are compensations. He is sure of his job if he does his duty. The privilege of retiring on a pension after a reasonable term of service belongs to him. It is probable that somebody will take a snot at him occasionally, but the likelihood of the bullet's missing is established by a long line of precedents. There is a tendency to under-estimate the worth of a policeman as guardian of the public. The fact is that without police, life in the city would be a continuous riot of crime. The policeman does his best to prevent this, and to a large extent does prevent it. Often he is a man of high character, his probity unquestioned. He has courage, or he wouldn't be a policeman. He is the soldier of peace, but ready to meet every danger, and competent to hold up his end of any fight. He is not a brute, but a friend. He is subject to dire trials of the patience. He often withholds anger under conditions that would make a deacon throw bricks. Newspapermen of long experience know that policemen are good friends, average much higher intellectually than generally is supposed, and are as square a lot as any similar number of citizens.

A certain "love seer" of Los Angeles has been arrested on the sordid charge of robbery at the pistol point. This ought to be sufficient to put him out of business as a reader of the future for others. His own future dawned upon him as a most unwelcome surprise. It came with a suddenness that left him no chance at an alibi or a getaway. Of course the whole career of a "seer" is that of robbery, but not by the methods of crudeness that require vulgar firearms. His proper game, as the law recognizes it when it gives him a license, is to take money away from suckers.

It was an ex-football player who laid out a pair of tootpads in Chicago the other day. One was laid out a pair of tootpads in Chicago the other day. One was laid out so cold that an inquest became necessary. The other got away with a limp. The young man they tackled had been tackled so many times on the gridiron that he knew just how to act. Moreover, experience had so hardened him that brass knuckles failed to quench his fighting spirit. He had learned resourcefulness, too, for having been caught without a gun, he took that of one of the callers, thoughtfully returning the bullets to the owner.

Herbert Wilson, convicted as murderer, and under indictment as robber, now has the companionship in jail of a brother. This brother, too, is charged with eccentricity in his morals.

A Pittsburgh paper thinks that it has concentrated all the rules of accident-prevention week into "Do Be Careful." This is merely a step in the direction of brevity and concentration. "Be careful" conveys precisely the same meaning, while the single word "Careful!", not forgetting the exclamation point, does the whole business.

Knowing that his hour of death was approaching an ex-soldier invited a number of his friends to a final party, and requested that they make merry. In this, to the extent of his waning strength, he joined them. He knew that the time of farewell approached. The thought that it should be marked by tears did not please him.

Yet the dying man showed faith and bravery and affection. more could he have displayed? He brought to his deathbed exactly the courage that had carried him through battle. * * *

Anita Baldwin has earned the public gratitude by consenting to the construction of a highway through her land. The new road will be a great benefit, by relieving the congestion of roads already in use. Mrs. Baldwin's course affords a pleasing contrast to that of Mrs. Rindge, who for years bitterly fought against the building of a road along the shore where there was great need of it. This is far from being the first instance in which Mrs. Baldwin has displayed a generous spirit.

Every time a fire breaks out in the domestic relations of my friends I'm supposed to scuttle down the brass pole and get into my spark-proof suit and extinguish the flames. I am getting so I respond to the call as automatically as a rooster crows at 3 o'clock in the morning. "Alice and I have decided to quit," said my young friend, the

He was all broken up about it. That was plain to be he seemed determined. After I had talked to him a while I went out to see Alice, and how do I find her? How but sitting in a corner jail has been arrested for reckless driving. beating a figurative tom-tom and making war medicine. She was

She said she never would, and so I explained a little further. "You are a good woman," I said, "and a pretty one, and a housekeeper and you have a pretty fair brain. You think you good housekeeper and you have a pretty fair brain. You think you have the right to bully this poor mutt of a husband, just because he was fat-headed enough to stand hitched when you proposed marriage to him—by a sort of a round-the-table shot, I know, but riage to him—by a sort of a round-the-table said, I know, but still a proposal. You nag him. You fly up in anger if he dares contradict you. You act as though you are a golden princess and he a ragged serf. You have got to stop it, or you'll lose him."
"Did he dare send you to say these insulting things to me,"

'He did that very little thing," I said. "He is a young man. and he has a right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and you are getting in his way. He will come back to you if you will promise to hold your temper in check and stop nagging. Otherwise he will not. What do you say?"

She would not promise. And I'm betting the boy won't come back.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912, OF

Glendale Daily Press

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Thos. D. Watson, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the General Manager of the Glendale Daily Press, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., of the aferesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August Collector Goodcell's policy is to approach the taxpayer from an entirely different angle.

"In making these investigations of income tax returns, which, after having been audited, show apparent discrepancies, transcripts are made of the original returns and sent to the field deputies in the district where the taxpayer resides,' said Collector Goodcell yesterday

"The taxpayer is asked to verify his return and to explain any items that are not clear to us. He must feel that we do not doubt his statenents for we are merely questioning his interpretation of the revenue laws.' Items that the taxpayer might not construe as taxable may be so regarded by the department. "It will be found that the educational value of these interviews is of as much importance to the taxpayer as the amount his assess ment may be increased. It will enable him to make a clear return next year. Experience proves that the method of tax investigation we are following decreases the cost of collection through the dissemination of information regarding the income tax laws and other sources of federal revenue. All taxpayers look alike to Uncle Sam. The average citizen does not object to county, Ohio, investigations when he and that all the government seeks to collect is the proper legal tax." Collector Goodcell pointed out that in glaring contrast to the British income tax laws this government's income tax regulations so protect the citizen of average earnng capacity that a married man no tax unless his income is more than $2500 and in addition he is allowed an exemption of $400 for each dependent, with deductions for taxes, interest and all sorts of odds and ends, and even then the tax is only 4 per cent, as against 25 per cent in England. Last year 35,000 Californians, with net income running up to $2500 and aggregating $55,000,000, paid no tax owing to the personal exemptions

The Los Angeles income taxpayer, in Collector Goodcell's opinion, enjoys a pink tea as compared with English cousin is now facing.

Little Miss Finds

Little Miss "Three-year-old" lives on Jackson street. She is very devoted to her father, and where he s, she is not far off. One evening he was teaching her the importance of remembering her street and number in case she should get lost "Now," he said, "can you tell where you live?" She evidently could not, and after thinking a moment, said:
"Oh, well, if I am lost you will be,
too, and you can tell them."

The supporters of Measure No. 5 on the ballot state that they are actuated by a desire to curtail high building costs by modifying many of the restrictions of the 1917 housing act. The state housing commission was very much in accord with this idea, and, realizing as they did, that many of the provisions of the 1917 laws could modified advantageously, the sanctioned a redraft of the code The commission, however, was as-tonished when they found that crept into the proposed act.

Section 11 of the "Burnett act" permits tenement houses and ho tels to be built in the rear of other buildings. The exit provisions for passage from the rear tenement frightful fire menace. The act en hotels which will be a menace states that the passage-way need to society. We do need new only be five feet wide by seven buildings, but we are not confront-feet high, and lined with metal ed with an emergency such as to lath and plaster or galvanized from.

This size is entirely inadequate and this sort of construction will make for slum conditions in the many large of hulldings. In many large tuberculosis and other communications and poor housing. cities of the world millions of dol- able diseases and poor housing. lars are being spent to correct just such conditions as the provisions of this act would make possible.

SAN FRANCISCO.—It would be just as logical for the United States government to impose a tax on the gross income of the post-office department as for the state of California to pass a law to tax publicly owned public utilities in the same manner as are privately owned concerns, it was declared today by W. J. Locke, city attor-ney of Alameda and executive secretary of the League of California Municipalities, in a statement in opposition to the passage of propthe taxation of utilities owned by the public.

This proposition which will be the leaders in the movement to voted on at the general election in save, as a public reserve, repreby the League of California cipalities on the grounds that it strikes at the very heart of public ownership of public utilities in that to exactly the same taxation as are corporations owned by individuals and private corporations. This in effect, it is pointed out, would bring about a system of taxation and make it impossible for cities to maintain and operate their own light and power plants and street car systems.
Should this bill be passed, it is

Watch the Man With the Advertising Idea

-he may be the coming brains of your business

Look over the young executives who direct the retail and the manufacturing businesses of New surprisingly large percentage of them have reached their goals by advocating advertising, by directing the advertising and by making the advertising work.

If yours is a business which doesn't advertise, don't close your ears to the story of your young men. Help them to think it out-listen to their plans and their hopes. Add the counsel of years of experience to the minds of the men who are planning the future of your business.

Did you ever expect that iron could be advertised profitably? Few advertising men did. Did you ever expect to eat trade-marked grape-fruit? It is an accomplished fact at thousands of breakfasts this morning. Did you ever think the dairymen could profitably use the forces of publicity, or that a barbershop could grow to twenty-five, largely by the power of the written word and an ideal of service?

The coming executives realize that a business exists, in the last analysis, in the minds of its customers, rather than in four walls and a roof, and, perhaps, that is why they are coming executives.

DUTY

The duty of a retail lumber yard does not consist only in selling lumber. To consider carefully the individual requirements of each customer, to recommend only those naterials which satisfactionly fill those requirements.

To conscientiously advise our customers on the various building problems that may arise.
In addition to the above the use of our complets filling system is available, by means of which the prospective builder can get in touch with contracters, carpenters, builders, plasterers and cement workers.
These are functions which this firm consider its elementary duties.

He may have been foolish, I grant you 'tis so, But you have been foolish sometimes, that I know.

His judgment was bad, and to that we'll agree, But he might with truth say the same thing of me.

He was not successful, and that may be true. But, frankly and honestly, tell me—are you? And what was his weakness I do not much mind But this I do know-he was never unkind.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Penn State has been tentatively selected as the opponent of a Pacfic coast eleven in the annual East-West football game at Pasadena on New Year's day.

California university, apparently on the top of the Pacific coast game again this season, most likely will receive the selection to carry the colors of the west into the game that has become established as one of the big classics of the season.

While Penn State is favored right now, it does not mean that Hugo Bezdek's team will be invited to make another trip to the coast. California alumni in the east would like to have Ohio State make the trip again and it is not unlikely that Cornell may

For a time it seemed that the big game would not be played committee and the Pacific Coast conference over the financial arrangements.

California objected to the plan which gave the team nothing but expenses, while the committee profited immensely from the gate After much discussion, the committee finally agreed to give each of the competing teams a guarantee of $35,000 and to devote the remaining money to the payment for the new stadium at Pasa-

Another family row came up when Stanford booked a Christmas game with the University of Pittsburgh. The Pasadena committee complained that this big game would take the edge off the New Year's classic and several members of the conference were lined up for support.
Stanford stopped the controversy with the threat of leaving the conference, if necessary, to stage the game.

Sentiment in the Western conference is against post-season and all intersectional games and if Ohio State should be inclined to look favorably on an invitation to play California again, the opposition of the conference might make it possible. Jack Wilce, coach of Ohio State and one of the most responsible officials in the Western conference, does not agree with the attitude that the intersectional games are not a good thing for college teams. When the opportunity is afforded to take a transcontinental trip during the holidays when scholastic work is not interfered with, I think it is a good thing for the players and for the game," Wilce said here last summer.

"The trip is an education in itself. It fosters better relationship between the athletes and it rewards the players who get very little compensation for long, tedious and many times painful hours of

While the "Big Three" already has entered into an agreement to leave all intersectional games off the football schedule in the future, it does not necessarily imply that the agreement will become

Other factors may enter into a reconsideration of the present

Yale, beyond doubt, would like to get even for the defeat handed them by Iowa. Harvard and Princeton also may have some scores they would like to settle and the exalted position of the "Big Three," where they could force teams to come and play them in their own yards, no longer exists.

HONOLULU

Declares It the Most Restful Outing Possible to Take

Father James O'Neill who got home Saturday afternoon from a trip to Honolulu, said it was one of the most restful outings he could possibly have taken. He was on the water two weeks of the three weeks he was away. He called upon the Fathers in charge of the French ission at Honolulu, and they would not listen to his going to a hotel, but insisted he should be their guest during the week he spent there. He conducted the services on Sunday and during the other days was taken on many interesting auto trips.

At the request of Mrs. Catherine Farrell of Patterson avenue, this city, he called upon her son, Lieut. Gerald Farrell, of the United States navy, stationed at Pearl Harbor. He found the young officer somewhat shaken and excited by reason of a narrow escape from death he had Mr. Edrupt is now doorkeeper in just experienced. The lieutenant the Middle Temple in London, and Governor Farrington had made an ascent in an airplane which ook fire. There was no alternative but to jump into the ocean, which they did, and about the time they struck the water the gasoline on the plane exploded. Neither was hurt, but it was a close shave. Father O'Neill was interviewed by a reporter on the "Honolulu Ad-'ertiser' who wrote of him: "He is good man to look up at if you casually meet him on the street, and he is so tall you just naturally have to look up at him. He is smile provoker and just as boyish as though he were a youngster let loose in the Hawaiian Islands. He is a booster for Glendale, which is eight miles or so north of Los An-

Father O'Neill says he had a good time and enjoyed himself every minute but it is good to ge back to his parish and taken up his work again in Glendale, to him the finest city on earth.
